

BAKE CAKE GIVE AND TAKE

We don't know if it's the austere times, or that good looking girl on BBC 2, but we've been taking a big interest in home baking lately and bringing the results into work. So, to prevent us needing a full new wardrobe and to do our bit for charity, the residents of Studio 8 and 9 Maling Studios are having a bake-off, with all takings going to next week's Comic Relief. Actually, we're going to double the cakes sales total then send it to Comic Relief, because we're nice like that.

All we need you to do is buy a slice for £1 this Thursday or Friday.

Plus, if you can be bothered tell the lovely people in the Clocktower what you thought of it so we can crown a winner. Oh, and it may be for Comic Relief, but we don't want any one having any funny turns so, if you're allergic to anything you might want to stay clear.